William J. Casey, Esq.
Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, DC 20505

Dear Bill:

I am enclosing the resume of a young man whom I have known since he was a very young child. He has recently obtained his degree in International Relations and has been looking for a position in that field.

On Thursday, October 25, he attended a group briefing at the New York Federal Building regarding employment with the C.I.A. He had known, through conversation years ago, of my relationship with you and I suggested I would forward on his resume. He is very interested in this area and, as requested, has minimized the people who are aware of his participation in this application process. Other than his parents and myself, I believe there is only one other person who originally directed him to the agency who is aware of his interest.

I have always found John to be an intelligent, aggressive and patriotic young man. He has always been very involved and he is motivated in all the things he undertakes. I would think he would be a very good prospect for the government. If there is anything you can do, I would appreciate this very much.

I hope this letter finds you and your family all in good health and expect to see you continue on for several more years in your usual efficient manner.

[Redacted Box]

This is in response to your letter of 15 November 1984 to Mr. William Casey concerning [Redacted Box] application for employment with this Agency.

STAT

Unfortunately, [Redacted Box] was advised on 28 November that we would not be able to utilize his qualifications. This is no reflection on his background or education, but rather the result of the competitive review process whereby our managers must select those people who most closely match our needs and requirements.
